

Satellite Communications for Professionals, Managers and Executives

Description:

This course presents the fundamentals of satellite communications. It is designed for professionals, managers and executives with an interest in satellite communication technology and program management.

Objectives:

- To learn the current markets and applications for satellite communications
- Understand the key components of a satellite system and how they work together
- Learn the theory that will help place your understanding of satellites on a sound footing
- Learn how to manage the deployment of a satellite network.

Course content:

- Course content
- Advantages and disadvantages of satellites
- Commercial Markets and Applications
- Systems - GEO, MEO, LEO
- Satellite System Architecture
- Future of Satellite Communications.

Delivery type:

The training is scheduled for 1 day and is instructor led.

One day is divided in two modules of 3 hours each.